

October is National Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Among Michigan women, breast cancer is the second leading cause of cancer deaths and is the most-frequently diagnosed cancer, according to the Michigan Department of Community Health.

Early detection tests for breast cancer save thousands of lives each year, and many more lives could be saved if even more women and their health care providers took advantage of these tests. Following the American Cancer Society's guidelines for the early detection of breast cancer improves the chances that breast cancer can be diagnosed at an early stage and treated successfully.
